Feast of the Transfiguration of the Lord

The Story and You

"Once, when I was in the service in Iraq, a bird I had never seen before flew right in front of me and stared at me. From that moment on I knew I was going to make it home okay."

"Once, when my mom was dying, I got a call from a friend I hadn't seen from high school. I can still remember the goosebumps I had, realizing that God was near me."

Oh, the things we remember. These are actual "moments of encounter with God" that students have shared with me through the years. They have two things in common. First, the comforting experience occurred during a time of great stress in the person's life. Second, even though it only happened once, they never forgot it, not even a lifetime later.

Were they "God sightings"? Well, they certainly weren't visions of a transfigured Jesus on a mountain. But their effects were the same. We enshrine those moments in that sacred place where we store wonder. We "build tents" around our memories of encounters with the Divine so as to recover them throughout our lives.

The three disciples up on Tabor knew something about stress. They had left their lives behind in order to follow the Rabbi. The hostile Jewish authorities, and the Romans, waited in the wings. The next time they would be alone with Jesus would be in Gethsemane. No wonder they longed to stay on the mountain.

But what of those who honestly report that they have never once felt the nearness of God? No worries. Scripture has lots of people who saw actual miracles, and then forgot and despaired of God's goodness.

In the end, it's the waiting in joyful hope that gets you to the finish line.

How will you watch for God's comforting presence in your life today?

Second Vatican Council Document on Education

Since, therefore, the Catholic school can be such an aid to the fulfillment of the mission of the People of God and to the fostering of the dialogue between the Church and mankind, to the benefit of both, it retains even in our present circumstances the utmost importance. Consequently this sacred synod proclaims anew what has already been taught in several documents of the magisterium, (26) namely: the right of the Church freely to establish and to conduct schools of every type and level. And the council calls to mind that the exercise of a right of this kind contributes in the highest degree to the protection of freedom of conscience, the rights of parents, as well as to the betterment of culture itself.

Sharing the Gospel For Kids

In today's Gospel Peter, James, and John saw Jesus transfigured. He was changed. Rays of light came from his body like the rays of sunshine come from the sun. His clothes were dazzling white. Each time God forgives you, he sends rays of love to cleanse your soul. When you forgive others, you send rays of love to their souls. Forgiveness fills your body and soul with happiness.

Prayer

Father, I am thankful for my dazzling white soul of forgiveness.

Something to Draw

Draw Peter, James, and John looking at Jesus with rays of light coming from his robes.

Mission for the Week

I will forgive those who hurt me.
