Solemnity of the Epiphany of Our Lord

Star dust. It turns out we are all made of it. Almost every element on Earth was formed at the heart of a star. How? When a massive star explodes, carbon, oxygen and nitrogen are released into the universe, providing the building blocks for planets, and plants, and human life. Everything in us is formed from residual stardust, and here's the best part: you have stuff in you as old as the universe.

So consider this: when those passionate astrologers saw that Star, might it have been the stardust in them, routed into them through eons, from the day God spoke the world into being, that shouted out, "We recognize You! We are made from You! We have literally longed for You, in every cell of our being, from the beginning of time!"

Each of us carries those Wise Men in our own DNA. We too are made of the stuff that sees the Star and says, "Yes, I was made to seek You and find You. Nothing in my life will ever satisfy me until I do."

And so I ask you, Star gazers: where do you feel the most completely yourself, the most utterly at home? Allow yourself this epiphany: only by knowing what you know for sure will you ever truly find the peace that comes from God, who formed the world from the beginning of the beginning. If you are breathing, then you are stardust, and you won't feel at home until you find the Star.

Joni Mitchell had it right: We are stardust, we are golden, we are billion year old carbon. And we've got to get ourselves back to the Garden.

In what ways do you sense that you belong to God?

Con la venida de Cristo se cumplieron las promesas hechas a Israel. En la Epifanía celebramos que Jesús vino a salvar no sólo a Israel sino a todos los pueblos.

BelieveSCA 2019 Annual Appeal

There are so many challenges to providing a Catholic education in the Valley. Whether it is the increased cost of living or the sometimes transient-nature of our community, it can be quite the uphill battle! St. Clare of Assisi Catholic School is blessed to be able to offer such a quality education for our parishioners. It also must have been a challenge to find a place to stay for Mary and Joseph. Yet God has a plan for even the smallest offering. I wonder if the person who offered Mary and Joseph the stable knew exactly their role in history. With this sign of hospitality, the Son of God would not be born in a street or a field, but rather a place that at least offered some shelter. God took such a small gesture and made it beautiful. Even the smallest offering can make all the difference!

We are still trying to reach a higher level of fundraising in order to provide a quality Catholic education for all of the parishioners in our Valley. This money is necessary to keep the mission of a Catholic education alive and well in our Valley. If you are visiting our Parish, know that the Eagle Valley community benefits from this Catholic education and it is only possible through your generous contributions. As we enter the Christmas season, I ask that you consider how you could be part of the formation of Catholic children. If you feel drawn to supporting our mission of Catholic education, there are envelopes in the back of each church or see additional options for donating below.

Join us in praying for a successful completion of our Believe SCA 2019 Annual Appeal.

God Bless!
